

3. Gaper/I need attention look: Are you so over the image that skiers and snowboarders take on to look hot? Would you rather dress like a rich banker from the Bay Area who bought their last ski outfit in 1984? Then this is your steez.

Helpful Hints

- First things first, pink is so hot right now. Think neon, think 80's, think Aspen Extreme.
- Anything goes here, as long as you look like a complete ass. Remember, looking like a complete ass is so in this year. Try fanny packs, old ski hats and coats, and in-bound backpack wearing. Wear a cowboy hat, trip your beard into a handle-bar moustache and grab a PBR and just go with it. The more tourist friendly/redneck you look, the closer you are to pulling this one off.

- Attitude: Play the part. If it seems like the dick head thing to do, do it. If it sounds like the stupidest question on earth, ask it. But don't stop there. If you snowboard, ski. If you ski, snowballed. If you snowblade, you're already there. Act like you can't carry your equipment, fall down in the lift lines, and marvel out loud about how you can see your breathe in the air.

From top right clockwise:

Nuff said....

If you're a skier its always hot to hate snowboarders. If you're a snowboarder, feel free to hate skiers. Give them the middle finger on the chair lift, McConkey brought the middle finger back into fashion in last month's LowDown. The middle finger is SO hot right now. Other rude gestures are welcome. Does that skier have something in her mouth or is she just happy to see the LowDown's finally got a fashion department?

Handle bar mustaches are way cool. Throw on a cowboy hat, pack a chew, and grab a PBR partner.

Remember, play the part. Point at everything, especially in the middle of a run. Just stop, point and gape.

Here in the LowDown Fashion Department we hope we've made your lives a little easier in your never ending quest to achieve ultimate fashion status.

Just to throw you little sheep a bone, teal is going to be the new pink for the 05/06 season. Holla atcha ya boys and think of us the next time your writing a dark poem about Dashboard Confessional while sitting on the lift bumping to G Unit on your Ipod wearing a teal one-piece suit.