

Local girl prepares for String Cheese shows

by Daniel Savickas

For the last few weeks there's been only one thought plaguing the mind of Sara Young's mind, "Cheese is coming to town!"

The cheese Young is referring to is not sharp cheddar or even Swiss; it's String Cheese. The String Cheese Incident is a jam band coming to Tahoe in late March, and Young is a huge fan.

"I just can't wait to see my tour phamily again," said Young. "I haven't seen them much since Phish quit playing."

Although Young is excited String Cheese is playing two nights in Tahoe, she really wishes they'd have come later on in the summer. The reason? Her dread locks are not completely formed yet.

"I've been working on my dreads ever since Cheese's last winter tour, but there're just not forming fast enough," said Young. "That's okay though, my new corduroy shorts are right on."

On top of finishing her new shorts and working on her dreads, Young has been spending a great deal of time working on her dance moves for the show.

"I just love to dance, it makes me feel so free and pure."

Although Young is a Dead head first and for most, even though she has never seen the Dead, she loves Phish, String Cheese, and Widespread Panic.

"When Phish announced they were breaking up I really had to do some searching. I didn't know what I was going to do with my life, and then it hit me-String Cheese tour.

"I've seen the bumper sticker, 'Jerry's dead, Phish sucks, get a job.' All I have to say to that is Cheese and Panic are keeping Jerry's dream alive," said Young.

What Jerry's dream was exactly, Young is not sure, but apparently it involves bands playing a lot of shows so she can keep touring and selling veggie burritos and bottled water at the venues.

"Don't panic, the burritos are organic," said Young.
